There is notable discontent among the miners in the Ostrava (P50/059) coal mines because of unjust distribution of additional payments and the deprivation of the majority of the miners of additional ration cards. Managers, who were promoted from the working class, are being sent to the Ostrava area from the General Management of Czechoslovak Mines, National Corporation, Prague, in order to calm down the miners and to spur them to higher production because output fell to 85% and the local management cannot achieve anything better.
